

THE ARCTIC - SPITSBERGEN CIRCUMNAVIGATION: A RITE OF PASSAGE | ULTRAMARINE

INTRODUCTION

Embark on a voyage through Spitsbergen in the Norwegian archipelago of Svalbard, where you'll encounter iconic Arctic wildlife like walrus, reindeer, and polar bears. Explore 16th-century maritime culture at remote landing sites and enjoy birdwatching at stunning locations such as the 14th of July Glacier and Alkefjellet. If conditions allow, you'll attempt to circumnavigate the archipelago, a true Arctic enthusiast's rite of passage.

Capture unforgettable memories and photos of polar bears on pack ice, reindeer on the tundra, walruses with their distinctive tusks, and a variety of Arctic birds. Zodiac shore trips offer rare access to seldom-visited sites, making this journey the ultimate adventure for nature lovers.

*PLEASE NOTE: 2025 departure is one day less, and does NOT include the last night of post-tour accommodation in Helsinki, so 14 days instead of 15 days for the 2026 departures.

DAY 1: Arrive in Helsinki, Finland

Helsinki, known for its remarkable architecture and fascinating blend of eastern and western influences, is the starting point for your Arctic trip. Explore the numerous museums, art, and dining options. You can also unwind in a Finnish sauna or stroll through the bustling Design District before checking into your hotel.

DAY 2: Fly to Longyearbyen, Svalbard and Embark

The group will head to the airport this morning to catch our private charter flight to Longyearbyen, the biggest municipality in Spitsbergen. Admire the island's rocky, glacier-capped mountains as they rise magnificently from icy waters for the first time as your ship sets sail.

DAY 3: Exploring Spitsbergen

As we start the tour by travelling north and circumnavigating the island of Spitsbergen, discovering smaller, outlying islands, you may anticipate a new adventure every day. We want to circumnavigate Spitsbergen, but if circumstances permit, we will also try to circumnavigate the entire archipelago, which includes many of the Svalbard archipelago's outer islands. The 14th of July Glacier, Ny-London, Phippsøya, Alkefjellet, and the rarely visited Kvitøya are some of the locations we may visit, though each excursion will be unique based on the weather and ice. You may find these names odd, yet each site has a distinct charm of its own. With its vast glaciers and vibrant tundra meadows, Spitsbergen is a place of unending natural splendour. Birdwatchers can see puffins, purple sandpipers, black-legged kittiwakes, pink-footed geese, and barnacle geese in 14th of July Bay, and Brünnich's guillemots (thick-billed murre) nesting on the cliffs of Alkefjellet.. When we visit places like Ny-London, Sundneset, and Alkhornet, get your camera ready to catch reindeer. We're constantly on the lookout for wildlife. Your Expedition Team is constantly on the lookout for the recognisable polar bear. Because sea ice, the bears' preferred hunting habitat, is frequently found in Phippsøya and Isbukta, you have an excellent chance of seeing and photographing them in action. Understanding Spitsbergen's past—not just how people live there now, but also how this region was first explored—is essential to appreciate it. Remains of 16th-century outposts and other whaling-related relics can be found at landing sites like Smeerenburg, where whaling was a major activity.
